Mothers who have Boy's to dress will be delighted with the variety shown at this store. We sell only "Lion Brand" Clothes for Boys, and that means the very best obtainable. One reason why Lion Brand Clothes are superior to other makes, is, every pair of Knickers have double knees and double seats, and sleeves are made double elbows. another good reason is, the makers of Lion Brand Clothes only make Boy's Clothing, their whole time is given over to the Boy's, and they know the boy's like mannish suits—suits with style to them, and that's the sort we have to show you Boy's.

Boy's Knickers that will give the limit of service

THE NEW PREMIER

I first saw the new Premier in the House of Commons, during the six years ago. A shock of dark hair overtopped a solid, serious-looking countenance, which seemed built for greater questions than political sophistries and party intrigues.

He and Mr. Borden were dining alone. He had been but a few years leader of the Opposition, and as one watched him, the thoughts naturally rambled over the seemingly big array of years, when he would be called upon to fill the post of Prime Minister, so improbably at that time set Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Parliament Hill.

There was not that fascinating personality, that cheerful bonhomie about the man, which is some men seem to hold one in thrall. The contrast between him and Sir John or jovial Dick McBride was so great that even his followers were not dreaming of an easy occupation of the treasury benches.

Since then Mr. Borden has continued to lead the opposition against a forlorn hope. The new turn of affairs was almost as much of a surprise to the new premier as it was to the whole Conservative party at large.

The laurel crown came surprisingly sudden to the man from Halifax. The evening of September 21st saw the announcement of a serious import. Joy and responsibility commingled strangely in the human breast. The emotions held conflict with reason and in the ordinary man, desecration of the judgment is the temporary result.

In these moments the Premier-elect proved his greatness; he vindicated the confidence of Canadians by his first utterances, when the whole world had their ears to the telephone. His message was one of peace—peace and no ill-will to the great nation to our south. The ultimatum of Canada was only a healthy assertion of our own, in the confidence, we felt in being able to pacify our own canoe.

Never was the like witnessed in party government before. The Borden Administration is placed in power on the record of prosperity as established by the previous Administration. The very successes of the Liberals were the stepping stone to this succession.

The next move of the man gave the human touch to the triumph. He visited his mother-on historic sands of Grand Pre, N. S., where the incoming tide told to the devoted head, that the honors of the foremost people in the world had been showered upon her son. That meeting touched the lives of our people, and the man Borden rode into the hearts of the nation on the shores of the Basin of Minas.

It is well Canada's public life has been set in such a relief of honor, integrity and justice.

The white plume of our seventy-year-old Henry of Navarre went down gallantly to defeat in the van of a great question. Sir Wilfrid in defeat and Mr. Borden in office, proclaim to the world the true greatness of our Canadian people and the Majesty of an unsullied private life in the midst of contending and conflicting political battles.

Halifax shook heads across three provinces with Arthabasca, where the people's sentiment has been stirred. The sober second thoughts of our people cannot be far wrong. The nation lives and justice and truth will prevail, so long as the gentle man of this type are the leaders of the party governments of Canada.

PRODUCTION AND MARKET

It is bound to be interesting to every patriotic Canadian to watch the rise and fall of the various producing countries of the world. In the various markets, for his own country, young as she is, is a vigorous competitor in many of them, and certain to figure more prominently in the struggle. Nevertheless, it will be interesting to see if she does not follow the example in many ways of her cousin the United States, and gradually drop out of many of the markets in which she now holds a foremost place. It is prophesied by competent judges that in ten years the United States' consumption of many of her leading food products will equal her production of them, and that consequently she will entirely drop out of the export trade. Canada's rapid increase in population is already beginning to tend towards a similar result, as the decline in the export of mutton for example. Yet in the export of grain, her annual increase is enormous.

The Dominion has some busy and growing competitors in the meat export trade, however, some of them as young and swiftly developing as herself. Thus for the big beef market of Great Britain, whose annual consumption of beef is well over the million ton mark, and of mutton over half as much, Argentina supplies an enormous amount, and Australia and New Zealand a great deal also. The continental meat markets, for a long time closed to foreign supplies, show a tendency in many cases to admit them, a recent agreement between Germany and Canada for example, having greatly reduced the import duty on mutton. A vigorous and well sustained entry into any market will, as is well known, have a far reaching effect, and the building up of a reputation for goods of first rate quality is certain of a rich reward. Canada has a great opportunity before her.

KEEPING CEMENT

Age is generally supposed to improve Portland Cement if it is kept dry; in fact, one of the great faults of many brands of cement is that it is not allowed to age sufficiently, before being shipped from the cement mills. If stored in a perfectly dry place free from danger of dampness, there should be no deterioration due to age. If allowed to become damp, such will not be the case, and the effects of the dampness will show itself in a lumpy condition of the cement; if not acted hard lumps, there will be a tendency of granular coarseness due to the cement's taking moisture, but insufficient to provide for crystallization. Lumpy or granular cement will show weakness when made into mortar or concrete. If the cement was poor and had not been damp, it was due to improper mixing of the ingredients in the mill.

A Prize Contest open to the Farmers of Canada

$5,000 in Cash Prizes for Farmers

READ the conditions of the Prize Contest we are conducting for the farmers of Canada. $100.00 in prize will be awarded to each Province. These prizes will be divided into four groups, consisting of:

PRIZE "A"—$150.00 is to be given to the farmer in each Province who will use during 1911 the greatest number of barrels of "CANADA" Cement. PRIZE "B"—$100.00 is to be given to the farmer in each Province who uses "CANADA" Cement for the greatest number of purposes. PRIZE "C"—$100.00 is to be given to the farmer in each Province who furnishes us with the photograph showing the best of any kind of work done with his farm during 1911. PRIZE "D"—$100.00 is to be given to the farmer in each Province who submits the best and most complete description of how any particular piece of work (shown by photograph sent to us) was done.

Every farmer in Canada is eligible. Therefore, do not be deterred from entering by any feeling that you would have little chance against your neighbor. Prizes "A", "B", "C", and "D" have no bearing whatever upon the quantity of cement used. As a matter of fact, your success in this contest will depend to a great extent on your careful reading of our 160-page book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." In this book—sent free on request to any farmer, full instructions are given as to the uses of concrete, and plans for every kind of farm buildings and farm utility. You'll see the need of this book, whether you are going to try for a prize or not. If you have not got your copy yet, write for it to-night. Simply cut off the attached coupon—a postcard will do—sign your name and address thereto and mail it to-night.

SHORT LOCAL ITEMS

P. C. Owen is at present confined to the hospital through illness.

Mrs. E. Titworth will receive on Friday, 27th inst.

Mrs. J. I. Poole will receive on Friday, October 27th, and as usual on the 20th of each month during the season.

Lame back is one of the most common forms of muscular rheumatism. A few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment will give relief. For sale by dealers everywhere.

The goose hunting party returned home on Friday after a splendid week's hunt in the east country. They failed to get any geese, but say this was caused by them having no dogs along. L. B. Miller, one of the party, returned a few days ahead of the main bunch, and had about a dozen fine geese to show for his trip.

W. W. Lewis is reported recovering from his recent illness.

Rumors that a gang of burglars were in town, put several members of the staff of one local bank on their mettle a night or two ago. The young men were in the last stages of nervous prostration when Accountant Pike, of the Merchants Bank came to their assistance and saw them safely in bed, each armed to the chin with shotgun and revolver.

L. G. Taylor has been appointed sub-agent of Dominion Lands at Prairie Grange, and will probably enter upon his duties this winter.

The schools will be closed for the balance of the week as a teachers' convention is being held at Ponoka.

Trains stopped for the first time at the depot on Monday evening. The new building is a very handsome structure, well furnished, and has comfortable waiting rooms. The freight sheds will be moved south of the depot in the spring.

Next Tuesday, October 24th, The Canadian Order of Foresters will spend a social evening in Mabley's hall at 8 p.m. Each member may bring two or three friends with him. A musical program will be provided; also refreshments. Every member heartily invited to come and have a good time. Any member requiring a badge may obtain same by applying to H. A. Young, Box 307, Lacombe.

"The best plaster." A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much. For sale by dealers everywhere.

E. D. Plummer Outpost, is at the Alpha Hotel on Tuesdays and Saturdays, 1 to 5.

LOCAL OPTION VOTE

The vote on local option in this election district will be taken some day next month not yet decided on. The district in which the vote is to be taken is a very large one, extending from near Calgary to the other side of Wetaskiwin. There seems to be an impression abroad that the vote is by localities, and that if a majority in one locality, say Lacombe, votes in favor of local option, and another locality, say Red Deer, votes against it, Lacombe would have prohibition while Red Deer would still have it. This is not the case. The vote is taken just as in a Dominion Election—the total vote is taken and if a sufficient number of votes are secured by the temperance people, the license in the whole license district as set out above are cancelled. If the vote in favor of the license, then things remain ing for the Republicans, while Socialists have been voting for either, neither or both.

In San Francisco recently the primary election showed to what extent party lines were being wiped out in all sections of the country. Again in Philadelphia, recently, the Democratic nominated a protective Republican as a candidate for mayor, and worked for him, as though he were the strongest member of their party.

It was only a few days ago that the bolter from a political party was looked on as a depraved person, almost unfit for human society and was generally regarded as a marked man. Now men look at parties and politics in a different way and vote as they please.

Recent elections in Canada have shown the same disposition. In Western Canada this tendency has been noticed very frequently. There are some signs that the party system is gradually losing its power, and though there is some merit in the party system, yet it has a multitude of sins to answer for and is now more harmful than beneficial. The day may come soon when the party system will be supplanted by something which will eliminate the manifold evils of partyism.

FOUR YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

James McDonald, a half-breed who was arrested in Lacombe by Corporal Bailey, some weeks ago, and sentenced on Monday afternoon to four years in the Edmonton Penitentiary for horse stealing. The case was heard by Mr. Justice Scott, at Wetaskiwin and the prisoner brought to the penitentiary Tuesday afternoon by Constable Ward to serve his sentence.

McDonald is a half-breed about 22 years of age and was convicted on two charges of theft. Both horses were stolen from the Indian reserve near Wetaskiwin. One of the equines mysteriously disappeared the month of March and the second was missed in June. McDonald was apprehended and convicted of the theft. The heavy sentence imposed was the sequence of his fondness of good horse flesh.

WEEDS SPREAD BY RAILROADS

A comparatively small proportion of the noxious weeds that infest this country are native to it. They have been brought in, in a great many cases from other countries as weeds mingled with other seeds intended for growth. And, whether native or not, this is one of the commonest ways of spreading weeds over the country. The railroad is the great offender in this respect. The grain for thousands of miles deposited the weed seeds that are harvested with the grain at every depot, which forms the starting place from whence they spread into the new district surrounding it. It is a duty totally neglected by nearly all station authorities to keep on the look-out for all weeds springing up in the neighborhood of their depot, and destroy them before they gain a foothold in the farms near by.

ELECTION DATES FOR CABINET MINISTERS

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 11—The cabinet got down to business this morning. The dates for the nomination of ten ministers were fixed for Oct. 25. No opposition is expected. In the case of Hon. F. Cochrane, W. White, Hon. P. Rogers and Hon. J. D. Hazen, of whom seats are still to be found, and Martin Burrell, who has not arrived, the dates are left open. Mr. Burrell will be sworn in personally by the Duke of Connaught.

The treasury board has been appointed and consists of W. T. White, chairman; Hon. Geo. Foster, Cochrane; P. D. Monk, C. J. Doherty and Hon. R. Rogers.

The new parliament will probably be called for the opening of business on Nov. 15. This is on Wednesday and the custom is for a new parliament to be called together for a Wednesday.

The session will be short, probably running only a few days over a month, and will be devoted to the passing of supply. After the expiration of 30 days the members will be entitled to their full indemnity.

THE RURAL TELEPHONE

One of the greatest blessings which 30 per cent. dividends ever conferred upon the farm home is the rural telephone. A well decorated white telephone makes a framed marriage certificate look as cheap as the married man whose wife flags him in suspicious proximity to a blind pig. Without the telephone, life on the farm would be as lonely as the third party in a hammock. It is a pleasant diversion, after the dinner dish have been washed and the steel range given a massage, to clasp the receiver to an alert ear and inhale the conversation from neighbors who are discussing the price of store eggs or wrapping time-tried crop remedies. It is said that more new-mown gossip floats over a rural telephone line than can be found anywhere else on earth outside of the weekly meeting of the W. C. T. U. In some respects the telephone is a dangerous thing. A woman of our section lost a large portion of fire-proof religion upon hearing a waup-waisted spinster who led the junior league make a date over the telephone with a preacher who would talk about a dangerous thing. A woman in the pulpit and whistled through his front teeth when he read the psalter. If lightning ever runs down all the eavesdroppers on a party telephone line, the school district will look as if the bubonic plague had dropped off for a short visit with friends.

DAIRY IMPROVEMENT

The big fairs are over in Western Canada. It is interesting to note that at some of these fairs the dairy cattle exhibits have been a strong feature. In no other department of live stock have these fairs shown so much advancement as in the display of dairy cattle.

At the Calgary exhibition there was a strong display of Holstein and Ayrshire cattle with keen competition in all the classes. The champion Holstein bull, Sir Percival, of Riverside, is an individual of more than ordinary merit; descended as he is from a bull with twelve R. of M. sisters, and fourteen A. of M. sisters, and whose dam and sire's dam averaged 25.77 lb. of butter in seven days. The champion Ayrshire bull was Netherhall Douglas, Swell, champion at Seattle a year ago. Three of the entries of the aged bull class were imported. There was a fair display of Jerseys also.

The high character of the dairy cattle exhibit, and the large number of exhibitors as compared with a few years ago, is a proof of good intention, that the province of Alberta is making rapid progress in dairying. At any rate, the Alberta farmer is beginning right by getting in good foundation stock. Many of the cattle on exhibition were from some of the best strains in the dairy herds in Canada.

THE ROADS

A prominent and important feature of any country, by which its civilization can be measured at a glance, is the state of the roads. In any new country, where the population is scanty and its main energies are concentrated on the mastery of the land, the roads are pretty certain to be mere tracks, marked by holes and boulders, and quickly changing into morasses in wet weather. Yet to have roads in good condition is most important, not only for the comfort of the people who use them, but for their material prosperity. When the roads improve, up goes the value of the real estate, and down goes the expense of hauling, the wear and tear of wagons, the strain on horses, and the waste of time in travelling. No farmer can afford to neglect taking interest in the roads in his district, or to shrink his share of the improvements, otherwise his want of interest will react upon himself.

THE CROP OUTLOOK

Western Canada has had a whole week of excellent weather since the last review, and great progress has been made on threshing. The wheat inspections at Winnipeg are now almost as large as at the corresponding time last year. Of course it is now too late for good weather to better the grading of grain that was damaged previous to this by frost, rain, etc., but the conditions of the week and the latter end of last week have enabled the farmers to save a large amount of grain that would undoubtedly have been injured if the wet weather had continued much longer.

It is, much of the wheat will be in the lower contract grades. At the present the inspections are mostly in No. 2 and No. 3 Northern, and it is stated as the season advances the proportion of No. 2 Northern will decrease. However, even the bankers express satisfaction at the outcome. They are of the opinion that the seven lower grades of wheat this year will command a good price, and indications point that way now.

The province of Saskatchewan has by far the largest portion of Western Canada's wheat crop, and the reports from there this week are quite promising. One that 25 per cent of the wheat is untouched by frost, 50 per cent is slightly damaged, and the rest is feed and a little better. Considering the enormous quantity of wheat grown in Saskatchewan this season, this is not such a bad outlook after we had so many discouraging elements.

It is still figured that the total wheat output of the three provinces will be about 180,000,000 bushels of all grades and on the whole it will bring an enormous amount of money into the country.—Commercial.

THE FARMER'S FRIENDS

If there is one class of men more than another that has a host of difficulties to grapple with, it is the one that spends its life in forcing Nature to give food to the human race, the farmer. His enemies are legion, his trials a phalanx. The weatherman gratifies his capricious whims over the fields in supreme disregard of the needs and wishes of the man who has toiled at his crops for months with such anxious care. The insect world takes very good care that he doesn't forget that the plagues of Egypt were a historical fact, and levies a tax on him which no government would dare even to hint at. Fungus and other diseases swoop down whenever they get the smallest excuse, and often apparently when they don't, to spoil what the insects have kindly left. As to the weeds, the birds, the taxman, the bear speculators in the wheat pit—scores more—why do more than mention them? They all seem to exist to harass the man without whom not a man could live for a week.

But the farmer has some friends, and they are increasing in number and power every day. Hundreds of the best brains of the day are busily employed in inventing better, cheaper, and more efficient tools and machinery wherever with the farmer can do his work more quickly and with less hired labor. Hundreds if not thousands more in the scientific world are racking their brains and trying endless experiments every day of their lives to find out more of the secrets of Nature, and how those secrets can be turned to the advantage of the cultivator of the soil. Every province and every state has its agricultural college and its experiment stations devoted to the farmer's interests, with no thought of material profit to themselves. They are only too glad when the farmer goes to them for help and advice in his difficulties. And they are the government. Whatever its political creed may be for the moment, it has more or less thoroughly learned the lesson that its best interests and, more important still, the interests of the country, are inseparably bound up with helping the farmer in every possible way. It advertises the farmer's country to get the best price for his produce, it helps settlers to their destination, it gets help for the harvest period, it does many other things for the farmer's needs. One more of the farmer's helpers, and not the least, is the agricultural press. Magazines entirely devoted to the farmer's needs are increasing in number and in value every year. They have but to be steadily read in order to give most valuable assistance—if measured in dollars a thousand times their cost—to him who gains his bread by helping nature to obey the command to "multiply and replenish the earth."

Explosion Wrecks C. P. R. Depot

Everett G. McLeod Killed and His Assistant Seriously Injured

Police Working on Case

One of the most mysterious street windows in the Day Block accidents ever recorded in Alberta occurred at the C.P.R. depot here on Thursday evening at 7:45, when the station building was wrecked by a terrific explosion, and baggage man Everett G. McLeod, injured to such an extent that he died early Friday morning.

After the train from the south had left the station on Thursday evening, baggage man McLeod and his assistant, G. Blackford, were putting away the baggage that had arrived. In making room in the shed, McLeod had to move a small trunk from one part of the room to another. Taking it up he set it down on the floor, when immediately the explosion occurred. McLeod was knocked down, terribly injured, his legs being shattered and the rest of his body severely burned. Blackford was also knocked down and burned, but escaped very serious injury. The station building was wrecked. The baggage room was completely blown out of existence, the roof and sides being thrown in all directions. The force of the explosion was so great that the wall of the ladies' waiting room was blown in with great force, the benches being thrown across the room and broken against the opposite wall. In the agent's office, next to the ladies' waiting room, the force of the explosion was also very evident. The operator and one of the staff were thrown forcibly to the floor, chairs and tables were overturned, and the office fixtures torn from their places. In the freight office, south of the baggage room, the damage was also great. The wall was moved in over a foot, the stove and desks were overturned, the chimney knocked down, and other damage done. Across the streets and a fire breaking out immediately afterwards, the town brigade had busy time of it for a few minutes.

Had the accident happened a few minutes before, the loss of life might have been serious, as the train had only left the station shortly before the explosion occurred, and there was fully 50 people on the platform when the train arrived.

The police were soon on the scene and two travelling photographers, Harry Nein and Henry Leine, were placed under arrest as they were attempting to leave town by the early train Friday morning.

The men will be detained at the barracks of the Edmonton detachment until next Friday, when an inquest will be held over the remains of Everett McLeod.

During the day Nein and Leine were the objects of a rigid examination, and the conclusion has been reached that the explosion was the result of the blowing up of a quantity of flashlight powders contained in the trunk of supplies the men had checked to Lacombe, where they intended to do a certain amount of photographic work.

When examined by the officers, Nein and Leine said they had been sent out on the road by a Calgary photographer named Aveland, and that prior to leaving the studio in the south-east city they had seen their employer mix a quantity of the flashlight powders, one of the ingredients of which was magnesium powder. They did not know the exact amount that was prepared, but thought it would be slightly in excess of one pound. The powder was packed with a quantity of plates, cameras and chemicals used in the development of pictures, and the entire lot was placed in a small trunk and checked to Lacombe.

If it can be proved that Nein and Leine were carrying explosives in their trunk they are liable to heavy penalties.

Section 21, of the Canadian Railway Act, 1903, says: "No passenger shall carry gunpowder, dynamite, nitro-glycerine, or any goods which are of a dangerous or explosive nature, and any person who sends by the railway any such goods without distinctly marking their nature on the outside of the package containing the same, and otherwise giving notice to the station agent or employee of the company whose duty it is to receive such goods for the purpose of carriage, shall forfeit to the company the sum of $500 for every offence."

Part 5, section 500, of the Criminal Code, 1910, says: "Every one who causes any event by an act which he knew would probably cause it, being reckless whether such event happens or not, is deemed for the purpose of this act to have caused it wilfully." 55-56 V. 229, 2481.

The Act goes on to say: "Mischief causing danger to life, etc. punishment: (A.) imprisonment for life; (B.) fourteen years imprisonment; (C.) seven years imprisonment; (D.) five years; (E.) two years. Every one is guilty of the indictable offence of mischief who wilfully destroys or damages any of the property in this section mentioned, and is liable to the punishment specified in this section, that is to say: To imprisonment for life if the subject damaged is a dwelling house, ship or boat, and the damage is caused by an explosive, and any person is in such a dwelling house, etc., and the damage causes actual danger to life."

The funeral of Everett G. McLeod was held on Sunday last. The local fire brigade, of which the deceased was a valued member, took charge of the funeral arrangements. The funeral service took place at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon. The coffin was taken to the church on the ladder truck of the brigade, which was drawn by members of the brigade. The truck had of the occasion, and was a most appropriate innovation. Arriving at the church, the coffin was carried inside, and a very impressive funeral service was conducted by the Rev. M. White, B.A. The church was crowded, the citizens of the town having turned out to do honor to the departed, almost in a body. It was the largest funeral ever held in these parts, and showed in no uncertain way the great respect the citizens of Lacombe had for the deceased. After the service the remains were once more taken in charge by the brigade, and taken to the depot where they were shipped out on the evening train. The pall bearers were Messrs. Jackson, George and Cunningham, of the C.P.R. staff; D. Hay, A. D. Wilson and P. Taylor, of the fire brigade. Beautiful wreaths were sent by the brigade and citizens.

Deceased came here about six years ago from his home at French River, P. E. I. He homesteaded near Gadsby, after which he took a position in the C. P. R. office. By his most accommodating and genial manner he won every citizen of Lacombe for a friend. He had several relatives here and at Bowden. One brother was living in Lacombe at the time of the accident. His mother is still living at the old home on P.E.I. his father having died several years ago.

To the sorrowing mother and other relatives, the sincere sympathy of the citizens of Lacombe is extended.

The Coroners Jury will sit on the case next Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the town hall, when it is hoped the police will have some solution of the mystery to lay before them.
